Subject: microsoft settlement

Dear Sirs, The last thing we need in public schools, where I have spent the last 21 years teaching, is more donated computer equipment. Somewhere in this school district we must have a warehouse full of useless donated computer equipment. I do not believe the Microsoft settlement would be any different. Actually what we need is money to purchase NEW machines and equipment to enhance our fragile, very slow network. Right now I use a 350 mgz machine with a 6 GB hard drive. Do not let Microsoft off the hook. They have engaged in monopolistic practices, which have been technically outlawed since the 1890 Sherman Antitrust Act!

Sincerely,
James Kevin Beckcom
